

LGBTQA Social Justice Center Funding Priorities

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, Questioning and Ally (LGBTQA) Social Justice Center exists to create campus environments that are inclusive and supportive of student, staff, and faculty diversity in the areas of sexuality and gender identity and expression. The office promotes identity expression, self-determination and exploration on all levels for all members of Pace University through advocacy, education, activism, programming, and a commitment to social justice.

Functions of the

- A Create a welcoming environment for all people interested in developing their understanding of LGBTQ and ally issues.

Advocacy, activism, and community building with a focus on diversity, multicultural issues, and social justice.

Education and outreach on the isolating impact of gender and sexuality norming.

Celebrate how differences in the LGBTQ and ally student staff and faculty population can enrich campus and local communities.

Provide direct service to LGBTQ students, staff, faculty, and their allies in the forms of advisement, advocacy, career networking, referral services, education and training, event sponsorship and co-sponsorship, leadership development, and peer mentorship programs.

Endowed Scholarships

$50,000

A major part of college education today cannot be found in books, but in students' self-discovery. For LGBTQ students, this path can be difficult and controversial and they deserve both the aid and recognition that LGBTQ scholarships provide. Endowed scholarships will perpetually provide a revenue stream for a

Endowed Fellowships

$50,000

influence the understanding of the LGBTQ community.

Introduced in 2011, Pace has developed a minor in Queer Studies, organized around the insight that

Student Emergency and Retention Fund	$25,000
--------------------------------------	----------

Educational Programming	$10,000
-------------------------	----------

Lounge, Library, and Computer Center Fund	$5,000
---	---------