

Americans with Disabilities Act Compliant Words for Job Descriptions

In writing job descriptions, some words are better than others. Certain words tend to exclude individuals with disabilities (e.g., see or hear). It is better to choose words that convey the actual requirements of the job without limiting the physical demands to certain abilities. The following table contains examples of words that tend to be exclusionary and substitutes for these words.

	Inputs Drafts/writes, Compiles/retrieves Makes/constructs Creates/fabricates Collects, Serves/services
